NIMBUS GROUP'S BRAND EDGEWATER RENEWS ITS PRODUCT LINE WITH A NEW BOAT IN THE 25-FOOT CLASS

Nimbus Group AB (publ)'s brand EdgeWater is launching the new EdgeWater 250CC, a completely new boat specifically developed to meet customer demand in the commercially attractive 25-foot segment in North America. The launch marks the most significant product renewal within EdgeWater since 2020 and the first since Nimbus Group acquired the company in spring 2023. Nimbus Group intends to continue renewing EdgeWater's product offering.

The 250CC replaces the previous bestseller, 245CC and has been designed to meet the requests expressed by dealers and customers. The boat features an unsinkable hull built using vacuum infusion technology and is equipped with a range of highly requested special features.

"The 250CC combines the qualities our customers say matter most –space, storage, fishability, and all-weather performance. It is not only the largest in its class, but also the best equipped for all conditions," says Justin Joyner, Vice President Nimbus Group North America.

Product development is a cornerstone of Nimbus Group's stated growth strategy, and in recent years the company has launched several new boat models aimed at meeting customer demand and supporting dealer business. Among these launches are a completely new product line from the Aquador brand and several new Nimbus boats, including the flagship Nimbus 495 Flybridge. The boats have been very well received and have earned several prestigious awards.
